

EVERNORTH EDUCATION

Elevate Your Voice:

Building Effective Communication Skills

Speak with clarity. Listen with Impact. Lead with Confidence.

Who is this for?

Campus leaders, instructional coaches, and teacher teams who want to communicate with more clarity and influence. Ideal for teams building a coaching culture or preparing for high-stakes conversations with staff, students, and families.

Format:

- Length: Half day (3 hours) or full day (6 hours)
- Delivery: On site or virtual
- Group size: Up to 30 participants
- Materials: Participant resource guide included

What participants leave able to do:

- Articulate ideas with precision in meetings, coaching conversations, and presentations
- Apply active listening moves that surface what colleagues actually mean
- Navigate difficult conversations with a repeatable framework
- Build influence through consistent, credible communication habits

Session Flow

- Opening scenario. Participants respond to a real communication breakdown and diagnose what went wrong.
- Clarity toolkit. Guided practice with message framing, precise language, and cutting filler.
- Listening lab. Partner exercises in active listening, paraphrasing, and asking questions that open dialogue.
- Difficult conversations. Role play with personalized feedback using a step-by-step framework.
- Commitment close. Each participant names one communication habit to build and one to break.

"My leadership team sat through plenty of communication trainings that went nowhere. This one stuck. Three weeks later, my APs still use the framework in their coaching conversations, and I hear the difference in our hallway conversations with staff. Worth every minute."
